

BACK TO SCHOOL SPECIAL EDUCATION WORKSHOPS

For Parents and Guardians

Navigating through the Special Education process can be confusing and overwhelming. The Chapman Ability Project and the Center for Autism & Neurodevelopmental Disorders have created monthly workshops to answer parents' questions and provide easy-to-understand information about Special Education. This series addresses accessing and understanding special education with a focus on collaboratively working with the school to support your children. Workshops are designed for parents and guardians; however, the information is appropriate for all adults interested in learning more about Special Education.

Special Education Basics:

Wednesday, September 17, 6p.m. - 8p.m.

- What is Special Education?
- What are my parent roles, rights, and responsibilities?
- How do I work with my school in a collaborative and productive way?

Creating Meaningful and Measurable IEP Goals

Monday, September 29, 6p.m. - 8p.m.

- How do I actively participate in creating my child's IEP?
- What does a good IEP goal look like?
- How can I work with the team to create appropriate IEP goals?

COST:

$15 per workshop
